
Description

Exciting Job Opportunity

Senior Lecturer in Midwifery and Global Health – Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine

To find out more details and apply: Click here

Applications are now open for a Senior Lecturer in Midwifery and Global Health at Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine.

In this role, you will become an integral part of LSTM's Department of International Public Health. Are you ready to shape global thinking, drive impactful projects, and influence the future of maternal and newborn health?

The successful candidate, with a midwifery background, will become an integral part of LSTM's Department of International Public Health (DIPH). DIPH champions innovative research, emphasising equitable partnerships and the translation of knowledge into actionable change and improved health.

- Location: Liverpool
- Salary: Competitive
- Contract type: Permanent / Full Time

- Closing date: Mon, 22 Jan 2024

To find out more details and apply: Click here

Category

1. News & Views

Tags

1. careers
2. global midwifery
3. public health

Date Created
8th December 2023